

The 29th Fujitsu Scholarship Program Application - Fujitsu Scholarship Program 2013 -

Dear Fujitsu Scholarship Program Applicant:

Thank you for your interest.

The world is increasingly interconnected, and there is a growing need for leaders to equip themselves with the knowledge and skills required to function effectively in both domestic and international realms. In order to succeed in this environment, leaders require acute insights into the industries, societies, and cultures other than their own.

Fujitsu supports this endeavor by providing postgraduate education and cross-cultural management training opportunities to participants from across the Asia-Pacific region. The Fujitsu Scholarship has been offered since 1985 as a key initiative for deepening the relationships between the countries and citizens of the Asia-Pacific region through an exchange of cultural values, traditions, and business ways. This exchange fosters mutual understanding and cultivates networking necessary for navigating challenges of the region. This scholarship has since enabled 440 professionals from 17 countries and Hawaii to study cross-cultural management program.

If you are selected as a Fujitsu Scholar, you will attend three and a half months brand new program offered by Fujitsu-JAIMS Foundation, beginning in April 2013. After completion, you will be expected to utilize your increased cultural sensitivity and management expertise in your home country, thereby contributing toward mutual understanding and cooperation among the people of the Asia-Pacific region and beyond.

I look forward to receiving your completed application.

Sincerely yours,

井口 久美子

Fujitsu's Social Contributions

We consider sustainable business management -- through which we seek to make lasting economic, environmental and social contributions -- as the most important means of fulfilling our corporate citizenship responsibilities and helping to make a better world.

As a leading global provider of cutting edge ICT-based communication products, services, and solutions, the Fujitsu Group has a vital role to play in materializing a balanced expression of corporate sustainability.

We also recognize our responsibility as a regional corporate citizen to foster mutually beneficial relationships with our local communities and broader society through active contributions and involvement.

Education and international exchange have long been a major focus of Fujitsu's corporate social contribution efforts, and in this way we seek to broaden mutual understanding amongst our regional neighbors.

Fujitsu's Vision for JAIME

JAIME (Japan-America Institute of Management Science) is a nonprofit postgraduate institute that Fujitsu Limited founded in 1972.

JAIME was first envisioned in the early 1970s by Yoshimitsu Kohra, then president of Fujitsu Limited. The JAIME idea was to take college graduates who were already in the business world and teach them the language, business methods, and special skills used in other countries.

Initially, the programs enrolled Japanese participants who learned American business and culture, and American participants who learned Japanese business and culture. Over the past 40 years since its establishment, JAIME has educated and trained over 23,000 program and seminar participants from 55 countries.

In 2006, JAIME was awarded the Japanese Foreign Minister's Commendation for that year in recognition of contributions to international exchange extending for more than three decades. The headquarters has been transferred from Hawaii to Japan in 2012 to facilitate the collaboration with Asian countries. By forming a multi-campus network consisting of its Asian partners, the JAIME Hawaii campus and Japan headquarters, JAIME realizes its mission of creating a community in the Asia-Pacific region by co-creation of Knowledge.

Global Leaders for Innovation and Knowledge

The JAAMS management program “Global Leaders for Innovation and Knowledge” is based on both theory and practice to innovative leaders with “practical wisdom.”

The program has three pillars: Management Theory, Liberal Arts, and Methodology & Practice. Future leaders who can exercise “practical wisdom” have skill of deciding and acting on spot based on the sense of “common good.”

Developing the skill to judge “What is good?”

Management theories and Liberal arts develop the skill to judge “What is good?” Learning liberal arts, such as philosophy, ethics and law, help to develop the skill of judging “What is good?”

Developing the skill to take action

Methodologies & practices help to develop the skill to take action to realize good. After learning methodology such as ethnography, concept creation and negotiation in the classroom, participants have the opportunity to apply what they learned in the real situation through a project and site visit.

Courses***

These are some of the courses taught in Global Leaders for Innovation and Knowledge.

Strategy: to visualize the future by judging the situation and take prompt action for realizing it

Knowledge management: to share and create knowledge, and make innovation happen

Finance: to effectively use the resources for making innovation happen

History: to position the current situation in the large context

Law: to judge social goodness

Multi-culture: to collaborate with others in global community

Concept creation: to create a unique and new concept

Negotiation: to influence others in realizing the concepts

Site visits: to picture future vision and realize good

* subject to slight modification pending instructor availability

Fujitsu Scholarship Information

Eligibility Criteria

Applicants must qualify for admission to the JAAMS Global Leaders for Innovation and Knowledge Program. The following are required:

1. A bachelor's degree or a degree equivalent to a four-year standard baccalaureate degree in any discipline from a regionally or nationally accredited institution.
2. A minimum TOEFL score of 577/233/90 (paper/computer/Internet), TOEIC score of 750, or IELTS overall band test result of 6.5 or higher from tests taken between November 2007 and October 2012.
The following applicants are exempt from submitting an English proficiency test score:
  - Applicants whose native language is English and who are from either the United States, Australia, United Kingdom, New Zealand, Canada, or Singapore.
  - Applicants who hold a bachelor's or advanced degree within the last five years from an accredited or recognized college or university in the United States, Australia, United Kingdom, New Zealand, Canada, or Singapore.
3. A minimum of three years of relevant full-time work experience (five years preferred) at the time of application.
4. Applicants must be a resident of the state of Hawaii, U.S.A., or a citizen of one of the following countries: Australia, Cambodia, China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, New Zealand, the Philippines, Singapore, South Korea, Sri Lanka, Taiwan, Thailand, or Vietnam.

Scholarship Proceeds

- Tuition and fees for the Global Leaders for Innovation and Knowledge Program
- Stipend toward living expenses
- Airfare

Screening / Selection Procedures

1. Initial screening

Initial screening is based on the strength of the application, which includes meeting the admission qualifications.

2. Interview

Applicants who pass the initial screening will be contacted for an interview on a designated date in November 2012. Applicants must reside in their respective countries of citizenship at the time of their interview.

3. Selection of recipients

- a. Final selection will be determined by Fujitsu Limited.
- b. Selection is based on English proficiency (for non-native speakers of English), work experience, motivation, goals as expressed in the essay and interview, and test scores. A key factor is the individual's commitment to contributing to the mutual understanding and cooperation between countries and to the development of his/her home country. However, no single attribute outweighs others in the selection process, and strengths in one area may be used to offset weaknesses in another.

Application Submission

All application documentations must be received by the Fujitsu Hawaii Representative Office no later than October 22, 2012. (See instructions for application documentations on the following pages.)
