History of Environmental Activities

Throughout the 66 years since its founding, Fujitsu has promoted harmony with nature.

Fujitsu Environmental Protection Program (Stage III) formulated

2000

ISO14001 certification gained by four development and service sites in Japan

Corporate Environmental Affairs Group established First desktop PC model awarded Eco-mark

1998

Forestation program undertaken in Thailand Green Product program launched

1999

Environmental accounting introduced Forestation program undertaken in Vietnam

1997

1995

ISO14001 certification acquired by all domestic manufacturing plants

Environmental homepage established

Environmental Management System Committee established Recycling system established and implemented "The Fujitsu Group Worldwide Environmental Conference" established

Fujitsu Environmental Protection Program (Stage II) formulated Environmental Engineering Center homepage set up on intranet Chemical Emissions Reduction Committee established First Environmental Activity Report published

Product Recycling Committee established Waste Control Committee established Fujitsu Environmental Protection Program (Stage I) formulated

Product Environmental Assessment Guideline formulated Domestic Affiliated Companies' Environmental Protection Council established

Environmental Information Service (FJ-CUG) opened

1994

"Fujitsu's Commitment to the Environment"

Use of CFCs and carbon tetrachloride for Energy Saving Committee established

Inaugural issue of Eco-Plaza environmental bulletin published Use of 1,1,1-trichloroethane abolished "The 1st Fujitsu Group Environmental Technology Exhibition" held Fujitsu Environmental Emblem determined Overseas Environmental Information Network begins operation

Environmental Engineering

Environmental control evaluation system implemented

1989

Center established

Environmental Committee established

Ozone Layer Protection Committee established

1992

formulated

cleaning eliminated

Environmental control sections established at each plant

1935

Park-style design adopted for Kawasaki Plant on suggestion of the first President Yoshimura

