

Modern Workspace Office 365

Digital Workplace Services

Fujitsu's Modern Workspace Services are built for today's workplaces; one where productivity, mobility and the employee experience are central to the heart of your organisation. A core element of the service is Fujitsu's Office 365 Productivity Services; focusing on collaboration to enable your employees to work however and whenever they choose. Let Fujitsu support your journey to become a highly mobile workforce through our range of service options, enabling you to select the right services to meet your employee's needs.

What is Fujitsu's Office 365 Productivity Series?

With the global adoption of Office 365 services, the ability to collaborate, communicate and innovate within your organisation and ecosystem has never been easier. The challenge is many organisations do not get the best investment out of their Office 365 experience when their strategy for user adoption, data migration and integration is lacking the right guidance.

Fujitsu's Office 365 Productivity Service matches the right set of tools for your business, recognising that not all your staff work the same way, or require the same services. It's about allowing your employees to securely access what they need anytime, anywhere and from any device, so they deliver the greatest value for your team to succeed.

Tailored for simplicity, Fujitsu helps you get the most out of your investment, managing the continual change and advising on best practice to securely extend your collaboration to your wider ecosystem. And as part of our Modern Workspace offerings encompassing Windows 10 and Enterprise Mobility & Security services, we can really deliver the freedom your employees need.

Driving your Collaboration – Teams, Voice & SharePoint

When your teams are spending too long looking for resources, or waiting for emails to piece together information from different devices and software, your projects end up being delayed. Your team's best work is out of reach, and at the crux of it all is your collaboration framework.

While Office 365 contains the foundation applications you need, your teams work best when provisioned with the freedom and flexibility of a collaboration framework. Fujitsu's capability in Microsoft Teams, Voice and SharePoint can help you achieve just that.

Fujitsu enhances your investment in SharePoint and Teams by building collaborative models that work for you. Allowing the seamless share of knowledge, documents and information both internally and externally, we ensure security is built-in at the core to give you peace of mind. Delivered with integrated search abilities, and access to SharePoint, OneNote and Planner, allow Fujitsu to integrate, voice, video and chat capabilities for next level of connection. And with the ever-increasing capability of Microsoft Teams and our Valo option, we can integrate your applications and intranet so your employees can find what they need at their fingertips - giving you the agility to deliver back to your customers.

Planning your change – Data Governance & Advisory

For our customers, it is often a question of how do I take that first step? Selecting from your technical and workforce assessments, our data migration services, or our consulting services, Fujitsu can take you on that journey. Providing you with better visibility of your IT operations, data migration & governance, as well as on-going management to ensure your Office 365 transition, we help you achieve the business outcomes you envision, at a pace and style that suits your business strategy.

Why Fujitsu?

Fujitsu is one of a handful of Global System Integration partners with Microsoft, meaning we get insight and access available to few. Our wealth of experience delivering Office 365 around the globe means we can provide real-life knowledge and experience to our customers. Using this experience, we help you realise the full value of your Office 365 investment with advisory, design and deployment services to bring your business strategy to fruition.

We achieve this by outlining your business priorities and the employee experience you seek. Fujitsu then use our standard tools and templates to walk you through to determine how to best consider your data and security environment, and the diverse needs of your teams. With the flexibility and freedom to choose at your fingertips, Fujitsu provides options for customers to start at a base level, and to match your uptake with the changing needs of a competitive business, allowing you to achieve the speed, and flexibility of your business strategy
