

Fujitsu best add-in solution for flexible use of SAP

Fujitsu Application for SAP® Solutions Mass Customization Template

The Fujitsu Application for SAP® Solutions Mass Customization Template (Mass Customization Template) brings together Fujitsu's experience, strengths, and know-how of system construction to provide manufacturing customers who have implemented or are considering implementing SAP S/4HANA with the usability to more flexibly and efficiently support complex operations on the production site. This makes it possible for them to respond quickly to frequent customer requests by reducing front office workloads and shortening work cycles, thus enabling them to achieve "mass customization."

Solution Concept

Mass Customization Template is a solution that eliminates the tedious workload of customers who perform personalized order production and helps them achieve mass customization. By maximizing the advanced capabilities of SAP S/4HANA® (ability to realize operations) with Fujitsu's unique value-added services, Mass Customization Template provides customers with the benefits of increased operational efficiency, improved usability, and use of the latest technology.

■ Features of Mass Customization Template

- ☑ Masterless operation that turns the common approach to SAP ERP on its head
For individually designed small-volume products with low repeatability, a master can be automatically generated from the work slip, reducing workload by eliminating the need for “advance master registration.”
- ☑ Arrangement Navigator minimizes complex operations
The Arrangement Navigator reduces the number of screens used for tasks such as specification changes to just one, improving operational efficiency.
- ☑ Configurator that has greatly improved master operation
The Configurator feature reduces front office workload by greatly improving the efficiency of master operations with complex and extensive constraints.

■ Solution value proposition

■ Automated generation of master registration to reduce workload

It is now possible to quickly manufacture and purchase individual specification parts with minimal input of information. When an individually designed product is to be made into a standard product, an official master can be created without re-registration. This makes the formerly complex task of master registration easy.

■ Stress-free front office operations

With Mass Customization Template, the usability of front office operations that require complex communication and coordination is dramatically improved while maintaining the standard functionality of S/4 HANA. Mass Customization Template reduces the stress on front office operations.

■ Increased efficiency of operational work

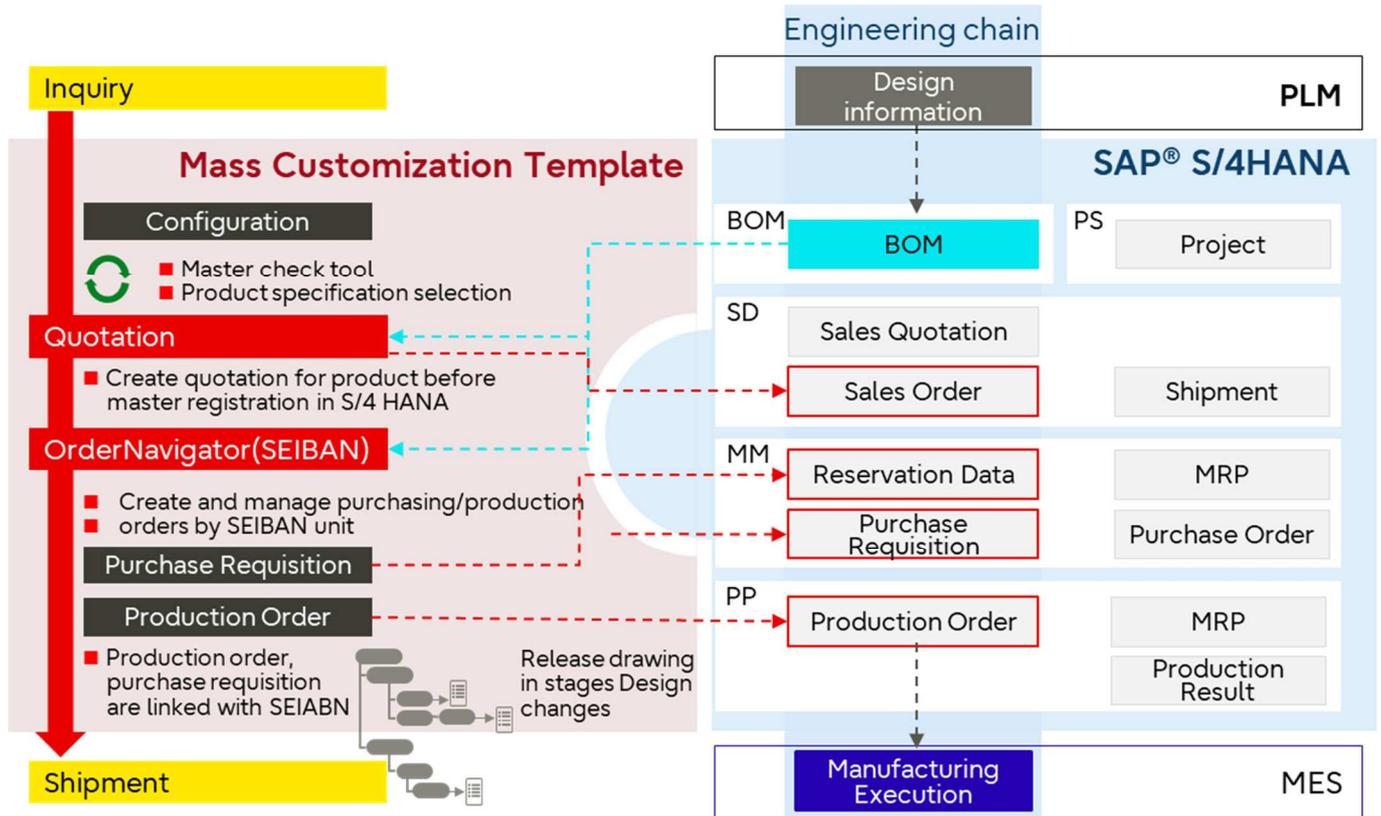

A unique feature of the Mass Customization Template is that you can add components, make intermittent arrangements, check progress, and see the effect of specification changes on a single screen, thereby increasing the efficiency of operations.

■ Increased efficiency of operational work

Complex and extensive constraints and conditions (rule information) can be organized and classified for master operation. Masters can be visualized and verified using the easy-to-understand GUI before registration, ensuring highly accurate master operation.
