Technology is changing everything... ...and it’s not hanging about.

In recent years it’s transformed our personal and professional lives.

No wonder half the UK public feels excited about technology’s potential.

Businesses are just as excited. 72% of business leaders say technology is transforming their organisations.¹

Thanks to what it can do, people are more productive. And the possibilities are literally limitless.

You know what? A lot of that change is down to us. Because, at Fujitsu, we play an important role in a transforming Britain. Chances are we’ve met before, but you may not have realised it.

We’re behind the technology you use every day, whether it’s at home, at work, in your leisure time or on the move.

As a technology leader, we take our role very seriously. We believe technology should be seen as a force for good, and should benefit everyone in society.

When you’re at home...

...we’re working with housing associations, banks and energy providers to ensure you get the services you need for a home that “just works”. Whether you’re watering the garden or turning on your bedside light, Fujitsu’s technology could be making it possible.
»This has been a true digital transformation for Home Group. It has totally changed the way we work for the better.«
Malcolm Brown, Home Group
When you apply for your mortgage...

Our systems process over £30 billion worth of mortgages in the UK.
When you’re managing your finances...

Through our services, Lowell Group can use AI to get a better understanding of their consumers. So, it can come up with the best debt management plan for each individual.

We’re also working hand-in-hand with HMRC to make tax digital. Now you can complete your tax return wherever you are.

“Fujitsu has got a great pedigree, a great reputation. All that experience and all that knowhow will help us provide the right services to our customers, to our colleagues and to our clients.”

Gary Edwards, Lowell Group

When you switch on the lights...

We’re working with energy companies to help keep the lights on for over 15 million UK households and businesses.
When you pour a cup of tea...

Over a third of the UK’s land mass relies on Fujitsu for the safe delivery of clean water.
When you’re at work...

...we’re helping you find smarter ways to get things done. Whether you’re in an office meeting, creating a presentation at home or setting up a web chat from your local coffee shop, our technology gives you the power to work anywhere, in the way you want, and to stay connected.
When work isn’t where you go, it’s what you do...

When people want to work anywhere, Fujitsu’s services make it possible. Our virtual client device enables over 70,000 employees at Royal Bank of Scotland to work flexibly from any device.

» We can seamlessly give users what they keep asking for. We don’t need an engineer to visit their machine – the user can self-elect to upgrade when it suits. The virtual environment takes care of the rest.«
Steve Wood, Royal Bank of Scotland
When boundaries no longer matter...

45,000 people at Centrica use our digital platform to collaborate across boundaries.

We also handle 1,000 web chats per week for the Ministry of Defence.
When you need IT support at work...

When you’re on the move...

...it could be our infrastructure that gets you from A to B, whether you’re on the train to work or flying away for your holidays. For over 30 years, we’ve worked with the transport industry on some of Britain’s biggest transport programmes, including four out of six of the northern smart card schemes.
When you need a ticket...

Over £2 billion of tickets have been sold at almost 1,000 train stations, including 600 in the UK alone, with our STAR desktop and mobile ticket systems.

Our systems make 15 million train journeys possible every day. Our infrastructure also enables millions of people to get online on the London Underground.

» Fujitsu provides our critical LAN and WAN infrastructure. London is changing. We are facing new challenges we can’t deliver on our own. We need innovative partners to work with us.«

Simon Reed, Transport for London
Every year, we give millions of passengers the best possible end-to-end airport experience. In fact, we won Network/Infrastructure Project of the Year at the 2015 UKIT Award for our work on Heathrow Terminal 2.

We're saving you time at passport control, working with the Home Office on e-gates to cut queues.

We’re there in the skies, too, reducing noise pollution and simplifying scheduling. And we make it possible for Qantas to repair, recycle and upgrade their old devices.

» Innovation is at the heart of Heathrow’s business. Fujitsu is a key member of our supplier base. It’s actually quite difficult to see who is Fujitsu and who is Heathrow. The teams gel together.«

Robin Gissing, Heathrow Airport
When smarter ways to drive are becoming reality...

Soon, we’ll be moving around in self-driving cars, more safely and comfortably. Our sensing and cloud technology are supporting security, safety and health for passengers and drivers. And we’re bringing together all forms of vehicle and traffic data into our IoT platform.
When it’s your precious leisure time...

...everyone needs to shop (online and in store) so we’re helping retailers and banks keep the tills busy 24/7. Gartner's Magic Quadrant has identified us as a retail business leader. And we work with retailers in 52 countries, powering over 82,000 stores worldwide.
When you’re in the store...

We support a high fashion retailer in Ireland across 350 branches.

We’ve transformed the in-store experience at EE
» Fujitsu has fundamentally changed the customer experience for the better, while also improving the employee experience. At the same time, integrating Aptos software ensures we meet PCI compliance standards across the estate.«

Peter Newth, EE

We’re transforming the in-store technology for over 1000 Specsavers stores
Specsavers staff are making better use of customer data. They’re tracking orders, incidents and service improvement, all with ease. So now they can look after the people who matter most – their customers.
When you’re at the checkout...

Our mobile engineers make over 17,000 visits a year to keep retail tills ringing.
"IT is the underlying foundation of our service. Without it there’s nothing. Fujitsu has been very flexible with our requirements it is reliable, consistent, flexible and therefore allow us to deliver."

Chris Dabrowski, Ocado Technology
